Philip Valentine

ECCLES—CROWN (P., W. H. Broadhead and Son; R.A.M., Albert Rogers).—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's thrilling play "The Speckled Band" is adequately presented, under the influence of Lodge Percy, who is also a pleasing Dr. Watson. Sherlock Holmes is very well understood and played by Philip Valentine. Dr. Grimesby Rylott gives Charles Brandon a powerful character, which he forcibly impresses on his hearers. Dorothy Love is very interesting as Ali. Cecil Ravenswood does well as Rodgers, the butler. Enid Stoner receives sympathetic treatment in Winifred Wayne's finely suggestive acting. Mrs. Staunton is done well by Gertrude Bonson. As Mr. Lougaire, the coroner, William Brookfield is excellent. Sound work is done by Douglas Ives in the character of Mr. Armitage, the recalcitrant juror.

Scene from "Sherlock Holmes," at Poli's, Next Week

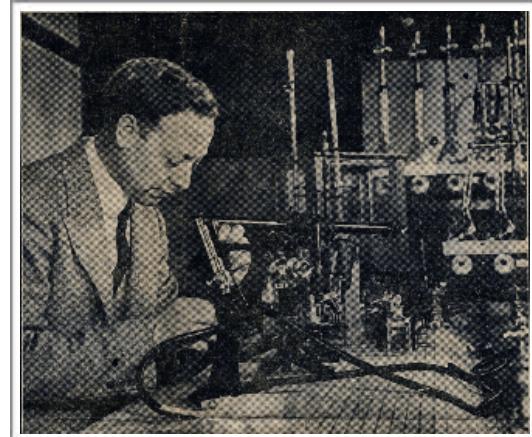

The story of the play deals with one of the most noted of the detective's adventures in which he broke up the infamous Professor Moriarity band of criminals. In this adventure Holmes is pitted in a battle of wits against the notorious "Professor," and how he vanquishes the man whom Scotland Yard had failed to trap is interestingly and graphically told in the four acts.

Mark Kent, the splendid character actor of the company, is cast for the rôle of Professor Moriarity, and the part will give him a signal opportunity. Stuart Fox, the popular juvenile man, will play the well-known rôle of Dr. Watson; Mr. Blunkall, Mr. Williams, Miss Pringle, Miss Starr, Mr. Velsey, Mr. Harrington, and others will have interesting parts.

The scenic production will be up to the standard of excellence set during the past few weeks, and "Sherlock Holmes" should prove one of the genuine treats of the stock season here.

MANUAL TRAINING MINSTRELS.

Students Give a Successful Show at Arcade Hall.

The Manual Training School Minstrel Company, which is usually known as the Mandolin, Banjo and Glee Club, last night gave a successful entertainment at the Arcade Hall. The hall was filled to overflowing and the applause was so enthusiastic that every number on the programme was encored at least twice.

This was the second of a series of Christmas week entertainments the company is giving. The first one took place in Clayton last Friday night, and it will be repeated in Kirkwood to-night, in East St. Louis tomorrow night, and in Ferguson on Saturday night.

Those participating in the minstrel half of the entertainment last night were Frank Stevens, Douglas Martin, Jack Sullivan and A. B. Mooney. Mooney is the leading spirit of the enterprise. Harry Van Cleave, Douglas Martin and C. E. Killiet appeared in a sketch called "Sherlock Holmes." Jack Sullivan recited a very funny monologue. Frank Stevens and A. B. Mooney with Jack Sullivan played musical pranks in a sketch called "U. Bringed Razx." Raymond King and Harry Kellog, baritone and tenor, sang, and A. B. Mooney appeared in a sketch illustrating how to pay a board bill when one has no money, by hypnotizing the landlord. C. E. Killiet sang a sentimental tenor solo.

CASTLEFORD—ROYAL (P., Theatre Royal (Castleford), Ltd.; M., E. Aspinall).—The Venner Repertory company this week present "The Speckled Band." Stanley W. Shealey gives an excellent reading of Dr. Grunesby Rylott. Stephen C. Venner presents a fine character study of Sherlock Holmes. The familiar rôle of Dr. Watson loses nothing in the hands of Rex R. Stewart. Ray Parry portrays Eadie Stoner in a realistic manner. Carr. Vallender gives evidence of his versatility in the rôle of Rodgers. Catherine Clarke is well placed as Mrs. Staunton. Smaller parts are well sustained by Harold Melville, Aubrey Norton and others.

SHERLOCK HOLMES.
NEWPORT LYCEUM.

The repertory season at the Lyceum Theatre is providing hosts of admirers of Sir A. Conan Doyle's hero, Sherlock Holmes, with attractive fare this week in the presentation of the dramatised version of "The Return of Sherlock Holmes." The London Repertory Company this week has been supplemented by the services of several members of the Newport Playgoers' Society, including Mr. Ivan W. Kyrie Fletcher (who takes a fairly prominent part), Miss Bobby Hudson, Miss Kathleen Kneeshaw, and Mr. G. J. Clark. Frederick Victor gives a clever interpretation of the popular fictitious character as Sherlock Holmes, while Betty Belloc (as Cecilia), Andrew Money (the Rev. Dr. Schleffinger), Harcourt Fuller (Mortimer Trefennis), and H. Leslie Harcourt (as Dr. Watson), ably sustain their parts.

TRIANGLE PRODUCTIONS

The Company was formed in March 1980, as a Small Scale Touring Company, with a policy of presenting middle of the road drama to as wide a range of audiences as possible.

During April 1981, TRIANGLE was offered the Drama Residency at St. Mary's Arts Centre in Colchester, and has now established itself as a permanent part of the professional theatre in the town and surrounding areas.

Its output ranges from adaptations of well known stories, to new commissioned work, and in addition to presenting major touring productions the Company has also moved into the fields of lunch-time Drama, Adult and Young People's Drama Workshops, and Poetry and Prose readings.

John D. Vincent

Since leaving RADA in 1961, he has worked extensively in the live theatre, appearing with most of the leading Repertory Companies, as well as working in the West End, and on numerous tours.

In 1973 he began writing professionally, and has chalked up several credits on Radio, though the bulk of his output has been for the theatre.

Since founding TRIANGLE in 1980, he has worked increasingly in the medium of Small Scale Touring, and wrote and directed three new plays for the Company in 1982.

Нельзя не констатировать перевозрождения артизан в Иркутск. Афиши оперной и драматической труппы слышат на масленичной неделе ряд сенсационных новинок постановок и бенефисов «любимцев публики». В общественном Собрании во вторник 27 февраля бенефис г. Володова, ставшего интересную новинку «Новые приключения Шерлока Холмса», и разумеется выступающего в заглавной роли, английского сыщика, которого онъ такъ удачно воплощалъ въ другихъ пьесахъ на ту же тему. Въ городскомъ театре, въ тотъ же день празднуетъ двадцатипятилетний юбилей сценической деятельности А. И. Вольский, послѣ побѣды оперетки выдвинувшейся на первый планъ и превратившей въ исполнительницу имъ ролей Зуана, Гаспара и герцога Лорана недюжинное дарование.

Идетъ оперетка «М-ль Ниту» съ неподражаемой г-жей Арицибашевой въ заглавной роли.

На маленькой недѣлѣ контингентъ театроловъ увеличивается и, надо полагать, сборы у бенефисантовъ обещаны.
